

INTRODUCING THE Webb Ellis WINE

A wine of finesse and integrity embracing the past, present and future of Neil Ellis Wines

After 40 years of making wine, the next stage of the journey has begun with the son of Neil Ellis, Warren, sharing responsibilities as winemaker and viticulturist.

The newly-launched Webb Ellis wine bridges their way going forward, embracing the past, the present and the future. The wine is symbolic of the sharing of knowledge and wisdom from generation to generation, marrying traditional methods with new techniques, and embodying a spirit of innovation, open mindedness and joint respect.

The wine takes its name from the Ellis and Webb families: Neil's wife Stephanie's maiden name is Webb. It honours the journey of Neil Ellis Wines from a solo venture to a highly reputed family business. Stephanie is, and always has been, the pillar of strength in the background, and all three of Neil and Stephanie's children play an important role in the business.

The Webb Ellis wine is a blend of 65% Cabernet Sauvignon from the Jonkershoek Valley and 35% Syrah from Groenekloof in Darling.

This wine spent 20 months in French oak barrels: 80% 1st fill, the balance in 2nd and 3rd fill barrels. Only 780 numbered bottles were produced, with 600 bottles available from the cellar and at a few select specialist wine merchants.

A wine of integrity, produced from vulnerable single vineyards, it will only be produced in perfect vintages and the blend will not be cast in stone.
